Alfa Laval Launches Flexible Decanter Rental Program to Empower Ethanol Producers

Alfa Laval is proud to announce the successful launch of its innovative decanter rental program, designed specifically for ethanol producers seeking to maximize oil recovery and operational flexibility.

Richmond, Virginia, February 2026

The rental program allows ethanol producers to operate the cutting-edge Prodec Oil Plus Decanter in their facilities for six months at a minimal cost. After 30 days if the decanter does not meet expectations or deliver improved oil quality, producers can return the equipment at no charge.

The Prodec Oil Plus Decanter features a patented process that boosts DCO (Distillers Corn Oil) yield baseline performance by 20% to 50%, while achieving an impressive oil purity of 99%. With the lowest capital investment requirements among all DCO front end and recovery technologies in the marketplace, the Prodec Oil Plus Decanter sets a new standard for efficiency and affordability.

A recent customer testimonial highlights the impact of this partnership:

"We've sharpened our sustainability profile with this partnership," said Brandon Soine, Director of Operations at DENCO II. "Alfa Laval's technology helps us meet the growing demand for biofuel feedstocks in an increasingly competitive market."

For more information, ethanol producers are encouraged to contact Alfa Laval's sales team today to take advantage of this unique rental program and realize their full DCO potential. To learn more about our Prodec Oil Plus solution, click here.
